GUALITYStarsNY Standards Family-based Early Learning and Development Programs

Point Assignment April 8, 2012 — Amended September 1, 2014

LEARNING ENVIRONMENT

Research Rationale: There is substantial evidence that classroom environment features are central to program quality and there is limited evidence that varied and appropriate classroom materials support children's development. Research shows that the quality of teacher-child interactions contributes to quality in early care and education settings and there is substantial evidence that children with involved and responsive caregivers fare better on a wide variety of child development measures. There is also a substantial amount of evidence that developmentally appropriate curriculum is related to other measures of program quality and substantial evidence that a developmentally appropriate curriculum is related to child outcomes. There is a moderate amount of evidence that developmentally-appropriate assessment is associated with improved child development outcomes.

COA 1	Provider collects information at enrollment about the child's development, including social emotional concerns, dominant language, preferences and any special needs.	Providers should gather information about each child and family during enrollment, in order to inform curriculum planning, help guide children's learning, and understand family circumstances from day one.  This information is collected on all children.  In addition to gathering information on any special needs, general information on children's preferences and background should be collected.	2 completed questionnaires (with identifying information removed).	Evidence must reference all of the following:  Child's physical development  Child's cognitive development  Child's social-emotional development  Dominant language of child (i.e., the language in which the child is most fluent)  Child's dietary needs and preferences  Child's date of enrollment	2
COA 2	Provider documents the developmental status of each child within 45 days of entering the home using a child development screening tool.	Before or soon after starting in a family child care home, a child should be initially screened for basic developmental levels in order to help define individual learning goals and identify any potential special needs.	☐ One completed copy of each developmental screening tool used (with identifying information removed)  OR ☐ Policy and procedures for screening .	Evidence must include all of the following:  ☐ One child ☐ Enrollment date (This may be added to the form, if no space exists) ☐ Completed screening form ☐ Screening date occurs before enrollment OR within 45 days of the enrollment date.  The entire took is not necessary. A few pages showing key elements, listed above, are sufficient.  OR  Provider may submit a statement of the policy and procedures for screening.	2

COA 3	Provider uses a developmental screening tool that is valid and reliable.	When providers use a developmental screening tool that has been researched, tested and shown to measure appropriate developmental milestones, they are assured that the results can be used for curriculum planning, as well as a basis to refer families for special educational services.  Valid: A screening tool is valid when it measures what we want to measure and not something else.  Reliable: A screening tool is reliable when the screening procedure is conducted accurately and consistently over time. The procedure would yield similar results if repeated or if done by a different person. CO	A 4 Provider documents the developmental progress of each child at least quarterly using a child development assessment tool or anecdotal records.	Authentic assessments are done regularly throughout the year, developmental progress is tracked and learning goals are adjusted. This is done for all children in the family child care home, regardless of age, using an age-appropriate tool.  Authentic assessment tools can take many forms, including:  Observation notes  Checklists  Developmental scales  Standardized assessment forms  Work sampling  In order to understand the whole child, providers should gather information about each child's development within all of the following domains:  Physical well-being, health, and motor development  Social and emotional development  Approaches to learning  Cognition and general knowledge  Language, communication, and literacy	□ One completed copy of assessment tool used (with identifying information removed)  OR □ Anecdotal records (one per age group, with identifying information removed)	Evidence must include all of the following indicators and be gathered in the following manner:  One child One completed form for each quarter: on 4 different dates, at most 3 months apart Dated within the previous 15 months Indicate all of the domains at least once in the assessment evidence  The entire tool is not necessary. A few pages showing completed information are sufficient.  If a provider uses a variety of assessment tools throughout the period, a different form of assessment may be submitted for each quarter. COA 7	Provider can document that child observations and assessments are used to inform instruction that guide curriculum implementation and individual child learning.	Assessment should be used to promote each child's development by planning and providing learning experiences that align with learning goals and help children reach their next developmental milestones.  There should be a clear connection between the child's needs and the learning experience.  Evidence of assessment results may include: conclusions drawn from observations, work samples, checklists, etc., such as:  During an observation, I noticed 4 year old child shows interest in using scissors, but holds incorrectly and rips paper. CPI 1	Provider has lesson plans that outline learning goals and contain associated intentional activities.	Written lesson plans are a guide, helping providers plan ahead so that the children in the family child care home can learn at their own pace and in their own way. Lesson plans will help providers be prepared for all the children, whether they are infants or school-age children; the home's learning environment will be safe for the youngest, while challenging for the oldest and yet comfortable and familiar. Lesson plans will also help providers remember what worked and what didn't, what children were most interested in, and think about what to do next. Children grow fast and sometimes behave differently at home and the provider's child care. Therefore, it is important for families and providers to intentionally meet at least twice a year for a two-way discussion about their child's development, including physical well-being, health, and motor development; social and emotional development; approaches to learning; cognitive and general knowledge; and language, communication, and literacy. Separation is difficult for both young children and their parents/families. Providers should be knowledgeable about the meaning of separation at different ages and have the skills to help both children and parents/families to understand and cope with separation. Having a specific written policy demonstrates a provider's awareness of transitions and acknowledges its significance to families.	Evidence must reference ways in which the provider supports families when starting the program, including providing information on separation and attachment.  Policy statement  R Procedures	Evidence must reference:  ☐ Ways provider supports families when starting the program  ☐ Separation information  ☐ Attachment information	4
Т2	Provider has a written policy and procedures to support children and families transitioning out of the home child care setting including when children transition to another care or educational setting (e.g., other family home, kindergarten).	A provider should follow procedures to help children and their families anticipate and adjust to new routines. Careful implementation and clarity in written policies and procedures reduce the trauma and upset. When possible, families should be included in the planning for changes in their child's routine or primary caregiver. Additionally, in the case of children going to Kindergarten, providers should have resources to aid families in making this large transition to school.	Evidence must reference ways in which the program supports families in transitioning out of their family child care home and into another program.  Policy statement OR Procedures OR Information from parent/family handbook OR Sample of information given to families (e.g. kindergarten registration) OR Evidence of meetings or other supports	Evidence must reference:  Ways provider supports families in transitioning out of the family child care home and into another program	4

QUALIFICATIONS AND EXPERIENCE

Research Rationale: There is a substantial amount of evidence that teacher education and training are related to other measures of program quality and to child outcomes. There is substantial evidence that director professional development is related to other measures of program quality and limited evidence that director professional development is related to child outcomes. While there is limited and conflicting evidence that experience of staff is related to other measures of program quality or child development outcomes, consumers value experience.

Note: Points are earned for the highest degree completed AND for each of several credentials AND for experience. The provider earns points in Management (qualifications and experience). Both the provider and any assistants earn points in the Provider and Assistants Qualifications and Experience sections. If there is an assistant, these points are weighted by percent of time worked by the provider and the assistant and averaged. To be equitable between group family and family child care, the provider's qualifications and experience count more heavily than the assistant's. Provider and any assistant qualification and experience will be entered into Aspire: New York's Workforce Registry. Aspire will verify this information and send it to QUALITYstarsNY.
